SIP Progress (Assessment)

The days of large comprehensive SAT prep books and courses have given way to digital platforms that help to personalize learning for students. College Board and Khan Academy have joined forces to provide a customized experience which allows students to link their PSAT results from their College Board accounts to the powerful Khan Academy, which offers a practice and tutorial program. The PSAT results are used to inform the content priorities for each student. The table on the next slide illustrates the summary data of the percentage of students that have successfully linked their PSAT results to Khan Academy at the start of the year versus today.
